

Virtual American Studies Seminar Summer Edition

“Threats to Democracies and the Role of U.S. Foreign Policy and Transatlantic Cooperation to Counter Them”

Wednesday & Thursday, July 14-15, 2021, at 15:00 (Athens time)

Keynote speaker: Prof. Matthew Kroenig, Deputy Director for Strategy at the Scowcroft Center for Strategy and Security at the Atlantic Council, and Professor at the Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University

Panels with: Harry Papatotiriou, Professor of International Politics at Panteion University and Director of the Institute of International Relations; Constantinos Filis, Executive Director of the Institute of International Relations and Instructor at Deree – The American College of Greece; Kalliope (Ilia) Chainoglou, Assistant Professor, Department of International and European Studies at the University of Macedonia

Registration is required. All lectures will be conducted in English.

Register at: <https://zoom.us/meeting/register/tJUqf-ihrzwuHtJgJYVfAOoVxNpddijte3aP>

Institute of Global Affairs

